Bio

Andrea Sanderson (poet, singer, hip hop artist) known on stage as 'Vocab' has been a spoken word artist since 2001. Andrea was born and raised in San Antonio, TX. She was a slam poet from 2004-2008 and was member 4 teams that competed at National Poetry Slam. She has featured at: DePauw University, Morehouse College, Cameron University, Rice University, Texas Lutheran University, University of Incarnate Word, Texas A & M, St. Mary's and Trinity University. In December of 2016 she was a guest teacher for the groundbreaking course: Black Women Beyonce & Popular Culture at University of Texas at San Antonio this course gained international attention and is featured in various publications worldwide. She was featured on the KLRN show Arts which aired in February of 2017. She was the master of ceremonies for the 19th Annual International Women's Day March held in San Antonio, Texas. Currently Andrea is a WIC Writer for Gemini Ink and a member of Arte y Pasion, a performance art organization. Andrea also enjoys doing volunteer organizing with the Martinez St. Women's Center, Rape Crisis Center, and Haven for Hope. In October of 2011 she released a c.d. entitled Vocab Presents: Sessions In Flight and it is available on iTunes.

Andrea finds inspiration in the poetry of Dr. Maya Angelou, Robert Frost, and classic soul lyrics. She infuses complex rhyme schemes and inspirational text into her work that ring true to her gospel and hip hop roots. She is an advocate of community outreach and loves mentoring teen poets. She is a co-founder and on the Board of Directors member of the non-profit organization, Write Art Out. She was voted in the top three, Best R&B Band/Artist, by the San Antonio Current for 2012 & 2013. The poetry spot 2nd Verse that she co-hosts won, Best Open Mic in the Nation, in 2011 & 2012. She was nominated for RAW Artist Award in the category of Performance Art in 2013. In December of 2017, Andrea won the Influencer of the Year Award, from The Creator Awards. In 2019 She won Performer of Year Award presented by Project Forward. In 2018, she was presented with the Dream Voice Award at the Inaugural Mayor's Ball in San Antonio, Texas by Dream Voice/Dream Week. In 2014 she had the honor of opening up for Motionhouse dance theatre company from the UK. She was featured in Fill Your Lungs with Fresh Air: Matisse and Writing, at the San Antonio Museum of Art. She was featured in a documentary entitled, Close to the Line, which won Best Short Documentary in the Capital City Black Film Festival. In 2015 she traveled internationally to Abu Dhabi performing at, Al Dhafra Airbase. She serves as a creative Writer In the Community for Gemini Ink & Barrio Writers, co-hosts: 2nd Verse, Jazz & Poetry with a Purpose, and Fresh Ink Youth Slam. In 2016, her writings were archived at Palto Alto College along with many other San Antonio poets. The ceremony for this event, Pen to Paper: Celebrating Local Poets, was endorsed and publicized by the office of the, Poet Laureate of San Antonio. Her poetry is published in The Texas Observer, January 2016

Issue, Love Poems to San Antonio, February 2016. Pariah Anthology SFA Press, March 2016, and Sycorax's Daughters, Cedar Groove Publishing, January 2017. In 2018, she debuted her theatre production, The Bad Mama Jama Mixtape: A Woman's Soundtrack to Life, to a sold out capacity crowd at The Little Carver Theatre, in her hometown of San Antonio, TX.
